VOLUME CVII.--NO. 260. ALEXANDRIA, VA., MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 29, 1906. PRICE 2 CENTS.

Are You Tired, Nervous and Sleepless?

Nervousness and sleeplessness are usually due to the fact that the nerves are not fed on properly nourishing blood; they are starved nerves. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes pure, rich blood, and thereby the nerves are properly nourished and all the organs of the body are run as smoothly as machinery which runs in oil. In this way you feel clean, strong and strenuous—you are toned up and invigorated, and you are good for a whole lot of physical or mental work. Best of all, the strength and increase in vitality and health are lasting.

The trouble with most tonics and medicines which have a large, booming sale for a short time, is that they are largely composed of alcohol holding the drugs in solution. This alcohol shrinks up the red blood corpuscles, and in the long run greatly injures the system. One may feel exhilarated and better for the time being, yet in the end weakened and with vitality decreased. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery contains no alcohol. Every bottle of it bears upon its wrapper The Badge of Honesty, in a full list of all its several ingredients. For the druggist to offer you something he claims is "just as good" is to insult your intelligence.

Every ingredient entering into the world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery" has the unanimous approval and endorsement of the leading medical authorities of all the several schools of practice. No other medicine sold through druggists for like purposes has any such endorsement.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" not only produces all the good effects to be obtained from the use of Golden Seal root, in all stomach, liver and bowel troubles, as in dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, ulceration of stomach and bowels and kindred ailments, but the Golden Seal root used in its compounding is greatly enhanced in its curative action by other ingredients such as Stone root, Black Cherrybark, Bloodroot, Mandrake root and chemically pure triple-refined glycerine.

"The Common Sense Medical Adviser," is sent free in paper covers on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only. For 31 stamps the cloth-bound volume will be sent. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE.

The fight waged by organized labor against the Japanese on the Pacific coast, in Hawaii and Alaska, which has now developed into an international matter, has been of about 10 years' duration and of a scope much broader than the present difficult over the exclusion of Japanese children from San Francisco's schools indicates. The Japanese government doubtless has been advised before this time of the character of the labor campaign against its citizens, but has awaited this last manifestation before taking action.

A law passed by the legislature of California five years ago providing for the segregation of all orientals into separate schools is the only legislative act that the organized labor party has been able to invoke in its fight. The rest of the campaign has been carried on unaided and in a manner characteristic of labor agitations.

Before the entrance of the Japanese into the labor field of California and the northern coast States began to be seriously felt, their presence in the cane fields of Hawaii and the fish-packing plants of Alaska was taken by white laborers as a menace. In Hawaii the labor situation became acute last year, when in one instance the Japanese field hands on a plantation on Oahu became so incensed at the effort of organized labor to oust them from their work that a week of rioting followed and the militia from Honolulu had to be hurried to the scene.

It is this instrument of organized labor in California that has urged the enforcement of the act of segregation of orientals throughout the whole State. In San Francisco, the strongest union town in the State, this demand was put into execution.

Mysterious Shooting.

Laura Osten, of East Orange, N. J., twenty-three years of age, was shot and, it is believed, mortally wounded in Broadway, New York, last night while riding in a cab with Louis R. Brown. Her companion, who is twenty-one years old, and also a resident of East Orange, was arrested.

According to the police, Brown, following the shooting, attempted to kill himself, but was prevented by a policeman, who took a revolver from him.

Brown is alleged to have said the two had quarreled over the woman's repeated refusals to marry him. Brown's home is in Mitchell place, and he is employed as a clerk in a brokerage office in New York. Miss Osten lives on Greenwood avenue. She had been stopping recently with friends in an uptown hotel in New York. Last night, according to the police, she met Brown by appointment and the two dined together.

The girl is in Roosevelt Hospital with a bullet in her head, and her condition is critical.

Brown met the young woman about a year ago. Miss Oaten is of attractive appearance.

Suicide of Rejected Lover.

Hans Beck, a florist, 25 years old, after a quarrel with his sweetheart, Helen Bassett, committed suicide Saturday night on the steps of her home in Cleveland, Ohio, by drinking carbolic acid. Miss Bassett's mother discovered his dead body early yesterday morning.

Beck and Miss Bassett had a lovers' quarrel a week ago. He heard Saturday evening that she was at a theater with another man and watched for her. When she emerged from the playhouse he approached her with angry words and her escort withdrew. Beck walked home with his former sweetheart and pleaded for a chance to resume his calls. Miss Bassett firmly refused and informed Beck that she no longer cared for him. He first threatened her, and then threatened to kill himself, but she thought he was joking. He left her in front of her home just before midnight and walked a short distance away and returned again, but she refused to see him. He purchased two ounces of carbolic acid at a nearby drugstore, and seating himself on the veranda of her home, drank it all.

Explosion of Natural Gas.

Two persons were killed, one is missing, four were seriously injured, and twenty more were hurt in a terrific explosion of natural gas that demolished five two-story buildings at Coffeyville, Kans., yesterday. It is supposed that the gas escaped from a main somewhere in the block. The buildings were in a row on east Eight street, and were occupied by a real estate office, three stores, and a restaurant. The second floors of all the buildings were occupied by roomers. The block of five buildings was leveled to the ground, and only broken bricks, scattered lumber, and twisted iron remain. The buildings and the stocks in them were not insured against explosion. A fire broke out after the explosion, but the flames were quickly extinguished, as little was left to burn. Several persons were buried in the debris, but they were rescued with only slight injuries.

The Wooing of Woman

Began in the Garden of Eden and has been going on with all its delicious consequences ever since. It is the starting point of a woman's life, the hour in which the sun really begins to shine.

Be she savage or civilized it is the dawning of the great light for which every woman longs. The story of how the world in every clime has done its wooing is the most fascinating that can be told the children of men and women.

Taft on the New York Campaign.

"If William R. Hearst is elected governor of New York, I believe he will be the democratic candidate for the presidency in 1908. I do not see how they could keep the nomination away from him."

William H. Taft, Secretary of War, made this statement emphatically in Cleveland, Ohio, last night in discussing the probable result of the gubernatorial campaign in New York.

"However," he added, "I do not expect him to win. I have every reason to believe from assurances which I have received recently that Mr. Hughes will be elected. My latest advices are to the effect that the sentiment is growing stronger for him daily."

MONDAY EVENING, OCT. 29, 1906.

WITH THE election of ten representatives in Congress from the State, but a week off, the campaign is hardly heard of in this city. As a matter of fact there are but two contests worthy of the name, and these are in the Ninth and Fifth districts. In the other eight nominal contests exist in seven, the democratic nominee in the Fourth being absolutely unopposed. In the southwestern part of the State, however, there is a very lively canvass. In the Fifth district, including the city of Danville and the counties of Pittsylvania, Franklin, Patrick, Henry, Giles, Grayson and Floyd, former Circuit Judge E. W. Saunders is the democratic candidate, and is opposed by Dr. J. W. Simmons, of Henry, a republican. In the Ninth, the largest district in the State, both in area and population, and in which the population is overwhelmingly white, the democrats are making a strenuous fight to defeat Colonel Slemp, the republican twice elected. Two years ago Colonel Slemp defeated Mr. Wysor, the democratic nominee, by more than 8,900 plurality. The democrats are concentrating their efforts in that district, where Robert P. Bruce is strongly hopeful of wresting the seat in Congress from Colonel Slemp, the only Virginia republican congressman. Senator Martin, who is now in Washington, says the Ninth district is debateable ground.

THE ONLY comfort that many democrats would derive from the election of Mr. Hearst as governor of New York, would be the rebuke that his election would mean to President Roosevelt as it certainly would be. The President fully realizes this and is doing all in his power, even stooping from the dignity of his high office, to secure the election of Mr. Hughes. At the republican mass meeting held in New York on Saturday night Marcus Braun, chairman of the gathering, read a message which he said he had that day received from the President. President Roosevelt, the chairman stated, said:

Any one who believes or who tried to convey the impression that I am not heart and soul for Mr. Hughes is either willfully or inadvertently laboring under a delusion. I am first, last and all the time for Governor Hughes because I know and feel that he stands precisely for the same principle that I stand for. I authorize you to make that statement to your friends and my friends on the East Side with all the emphasis that is in you.

SEVENTY persons, it is said, perished in the accident to an electric train at Atlantic City yesterday afternoon. It is suggested that the terrible disaster was caused by the absence of a guard rail on the trestle from which the train plunged into a creek. The doors of the cars had been closed by a lever, operated by the motorman, and after the coaches had plunged into the water it was impossible to open them, and the passengers, shocked, crippled and in a death cage, were drowned. Some managed to break through windows and rising to the surface were rescued by boatmen. This is the second terrible accident that has occurred in the same vicinity recently. The authorities are now engaged in investigating the cause of the last accident. Railway horrors are following close in the wake of each other. If such calamities are due to negligence upon the part of officials in whose care confiding passengers place themselves, something should be done with those responsible for the loss of life.

TWO STORMS which have recently prevailed in the West India Islands and in the Gulf States of this country have destroyed hundreds of persons. The second storm followed closely in the path of the first. Dispatches today from Japan bring the startling intelligence that over eight hundred people have lost their lives in a storm. Convulsions of nature with death in their paths have become common in late years.

FOUR identical bids from four companies were received by the ordnance bureau of the army Saturday for 358,000 pounds of smokeless powder. This is but another instance of how the great combines work in restraint of trade. But they are bold about it.

From Washington.

(Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.)

Washington, Oct. 29.

Indian Commissioner Leupp has received word that the forty-five Ute Indians which were persuaded by Major McLachlan, special agent of the Indian office, to leave the band of Utes, now being corralled by United States cavalry, are at Rock Spring, Wyo. They are unable to continue their march to the Uintah reservation, in Utah, on account of the severe weather.

After going around among the republican leaders in New York city for four days Postmaster General Courtelyou reported his observations in person to President Roosevelt this morning. He called at 10 o'clock and shortly thereafter was joined by Secretary Root, who is scheduled to make the star speech of the campaign at Utica, N. Y., on November 1. When seen before his consultation with the President, Mr. Courtelyou declined to discuss the situation in New York. It is believed, however, that the administration leaders are somewhat worried. In the past few days the President has been urged by those in charge of the Hughes campaign to come out in some sort of formal statement in order to help them out. They believe that the verbal message which he sent through Marcus Braun, the Hungarian republican leader, Saturday night, will have a good effect, but they feel that the situation demands a declaration of a more formal and more elaborate character from the White House. The whole business was gone over very carefully at this morning's conference. If the President should decide that it would not be compatible with the dignity of his office to write a letter to Mr. Hughes, it is probable that when Mr. Root makes his Utica speech he will embody therein the President's views of the issue with the statement that he speaks by authority of the President. The conference of the two cabinet members with the President lasted until 12 o'clock. Neither could be induced to discuss the matters under consideration when they left the White House.

Fat people throughout the United States who have been buying obesity pills from the Society of Associated Physicians in New York, may be surprised to learn through a fraud order issued by the Postoffice Department this morning, that the remedy is not made from a plant in South Africa by a British army surgeon, during the progress of the Boer war. These pills were largely advertised and extensively sold, according to the evidence submitted to Postmaster General Cortelyou. Some of them were analyzed by Doctor Wiley, of the Bureau of Chemistry, who found that they did not contain any South African plant. J. A. Knox, the postoffice inspectors say, is the Society of Associated Physicians.

Former Governor Murphy of New Mexico was today cleared by the U. S. Supreme Court of any impropriety in the issuance of warrants during his term of office, the court affirming the decree of the territorial court. F. Wilson, of New Mexico, had accused Murphy of illegally drawing warrants to the value of $8,000 and converting the money to his own use.

The U. S. Supreme Court today denied the application for a writ of certiorari in the Indianapolis gas case. This gives that city an option to sell the old gas maines formerly used by the Consumers Gas Company and now desired for use by another company.

As a result of a runaway accident, David M. Oliver, a clerk, 47 years old, living at 1234 G street, northeast, died at the Casualty Hospital a little after noon today. George Hoover and Oliver were driving in a buggy behind a spirited animal when an auto coming along the street tooting its horn frightened the animal, causing it to become unmanageable. Oliver thinking that the horse was beyond Hoover's control jumped, fracturing his skull. When he reached the hospital physicians could do nothing for the injured man.

The director of the Mint this afternoon purchased 100,000 ounces of silver at 70.977 cents an ounce, to be delivered at New Orleans.

Ernest Sligo was shot and fatally wounded by John Schinn, a longshoreman, at Newport News yesterday during a friendly chat. Schinn was arrested. The cause of the shooting is not known.

Opposition is developing at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute to the idea of having J. Thompson Brown, the present rector of the board of visitors, as president of the institute, to succeed Dr. J. M. McBryde.

Edward Jordan, twenty years old, and Leon L. Whidbee, aged seventeen, both clerks, were found dead in their room in Norfolk Saturday, at the boarding-house of Mrs. W. S. Ayers, No. 108 Charlotte street, death having resulted from asphyxiation by illuminating gas.

Capt. William Cooley, a wrecking master, dropped dead yesterday while standing on the deck of the American steamship George Farwell, which was stranded at Cape Henry, and the cargo of lumber aboard of which he was engaged in saving. He was sixty-six years old.

Austin Johnson, convicted and sentenced to death, for criminal assault upon Ruth Pinchbeck, a young white girl, and granted a new trial by the Supreme Court, was on Saturday in Richmond convicted a second time and sentenced to serve 20 years in the penitentiary for the crime.

With the city almost overrun with deserters from the United States navy, free from molestation on the part of the local police, it is said that action will be taken within a few days to rid Norfolk of this unwelcome class of men. The local police have not interfered with them because only substitute police made arrests.

The cornerstone of a new Catholic Church at Harrisonburg, to which Mrs. Thomas F. Ryan gave $15,000, was laid yesterday with imposing ceremony by Right Rev. A. Van de Vyver, bishop of the diocese of Richmond. The bishop made a brief address, which was followed by a sermon by Rev. Joseph F. Magri of Richmond, chancellor of the diocese.

Col. William T. Robins, one of the best known and most esteemed and popular citizens of Richmond, died suddenly yesterday morning at his residence in this city. Colonel Robins was a native of Gloucester county, and was a type of the old Virginia gentleman. Colonel Robins served the Confederacy with credit. For several summers recently, including that just closed, he was manager of the Massanetta Springs, where he added many to the already large list of friends.

Westmoreland Davis, of the Loudoun Hunt Club, entertained Saturday over 400 guests of the Loudoun Hunt Club at an elaborate luncheon at his home, Morven Park, near Leesburg. The latter club will be stationed near Leesburg during the hunting season and until February 1. They will have in the field 30 couples of hounds and 25 hunters. Mr. Robert Cotesworth, of England, is head huntsman.

Three persons were killed and many more wounded, and all the principal Caids were made prisoners. Fire early yesterday partly destroyed Trowbridge Hall, the woman's dormitory of Defiance College, in Defiance, Ohio, and fifty-six girls had a narrow escape. The damage is $10,000. Two young women of Bluffton, Ohio, occupying a room on the first floor above the furnace room, were first awakened, and saw flames all about them. They got out of a second story window by tying a clothes line about a radiator and sliding to the gound. Each girl needed surgical treatment. The building was dedicated a year ago. It was the gift of Lyman Trowbridge, of Defiance. The west end of the building was razed. The contents were not insured, and the college will lose heavily.

Miss Nettie Brown, aged twenty-five years, said to be the daughter of D. C. Brown, of Lincoln, Nebr., committed suicide yesterday in the Catholic Cathedral in Kansas City by taking carbolic acid. Miss Brown went to Kansas City about three weeks ago and registered at a leading hotel. Later, going to another first-class hotel, without funds, she asked the hotel clerk to telegraph to her "guardian" in Omaha. The answer from the Omaha man brought no money, and Miss Brown was requested to leave. Yesterday she attended service at the cathedral. It was noticed that she remained in the church after the congregation had left, but nothing was thought of it. Later she was found dead in a pew.

TERRIBLE RAILROAD ACCIDENT.

Scores of passengers—the estimates varying now from 50 to 80—are buried in three coaches of the Pennsylvania Electric Railroad and West Jersey Seaboard Line, in from 20 to 30 feet of water, in the stream which separates Atlantic City from the mainland and is known as the Thoroughfare. Of the 84 passengers reported to have left Camden at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the fated express—and there were possibly more—not more than thirty had been found at 9 o'clock last night or accounted for. The wreck apparently exceeds in loss of life the collision on an excursion train with an express train in the Meadows within a short distance of yesterday afternoon's disaster, July 30, 1896, in which 40 lives were sacrificed.

The cars of the electric train jumped the track on the trestle bridge over the Thoroughfare, and before any one could get out they were hurled to a watery grave. The trestle is about fifteen feet above the water and the drop to the water required several seconds, giving time for the passengers—men, women and children—to see and calculate their fate.

Fourteen bodies, all told, had been recovered up to midnight last night. Hope of getting the bodies out of the two forward cars was temporarily abandoned. The divers said they could not work in the swift current and had to wait for low tide.

The accident is one of the most gruesome in railroad annals. The survivors are mostly men, only three or four women managing to get out. Entire families who were on their way to the shore were caught in the trap and wiped out without a chance at rescue.

It occurred while the train was running at a high rate of speed, just as it took the draw of the bridge over the Thoroughfare outside Atlantic City. The train had reached the center and the wheels of the forward coach were entering the tracks fixed to the draw. It appears that the rail which was an outside one on the right-hand side coming down must have been out of plump about an eighth of an inch. The sharp flange of the electric train caught this and twisted it inward. Had it spread instead of twisting inward the accident would not have happened. This twist threw the first car off the track and into the water. The result was that the second and third cars were dragged with it, and while the third car was descending the rear portion struck a piece of the abutment, hung for a short time and slid into the water. But this brief stop saved several lives. A number of men and a few women leaped out of windows and the rear door, either into the water or caught hold of posts, and were rescued.

The wheels had run over the trestling for 200 feet, crushing the heavy timber and tearing up the rails. Motorman Walter Scott, standing at the lever, felt the jar and, according to people in the train, at once applied the airbrakes with full force, but it was useless. The car crashed through the timber guard rail and plunged from the bridge into the river. The motorman went down with his car and is believed to be still at the bottom of the waterway gripping his lever. The second car slowed up, but the couplings held, and it was dragged down behind the other sinking out of sight. The third car also held and was dragged off the bridge, but the rear end caught on the abutment. The trucks of this car smashed through its bottom like paper, and several bodies are believed to be still pinned under the tons of steel.

Passengers in the first two cars were caught like rats and drowned. About half a dozen were thrown against the windows with force enought to smash the glass, and they managed to get through. When the first rescuers arrived on the scene these were seen floating or hanging on the wreckage. Men in boats went to their rescue at once but were unable to reach all, and two at least went down before help could reach them.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 29.—The latest estimate of victims in the draw-bridge wreck places the number of dead at seventy. Fifty-nine bodies have been recovered.

Only today did there come a full realization of the awfulness of the calamity when the three-car electric train of the West Jersey and Seashore electric railroad plunged from the drawbridge spanning the Thoroughfare, a tidewater stream separating Atlantic City from the mainland.

With the bringing to the surface of scores of bodies of those who had died so miserably at the bottom of the creek, and the heartrending scenes attending their identification came the appreciation of the extent of the great disaster.

What most has horrified every one on the scene is the awfulness of the fate of the victims. Caught in the cars, locked in by lever moved doors, which they could not open, the helpless pleasure seekers were drowned miserably.

The cars sank quickly and in a few moments the last of the entrapped victims had yielded up the struggle.

The estimates of the number who perished in the disaster are based upon a comparision of the list of survivors with the conductor's statement of his complement of passengers. Ninety-two passengers are believed to have been in the three cars. Over a score of these have been accounted for, most of them having been rescued suffering from severe injuries. A few may have escaped without any report being made of the fact. But it is feared that all others met the fate of those whose bodies have been removed from the submerged cars.

Efforts are now being directed to raising the submerged cars but the task is proving a hard one. The coaches, by the force of their fall, were sunk deep into the mud of the bottom. Several times the chains passed under the cars broke when cranes attempted to lift them to the surface. Divers have dragged many bodies through the windows they broke open but several still remain inside.

District Attorney Abbott, of Mays Landing, is at Atlantic City at the instance of the Pennsylvania officials investigating the cause of the wreck.

"We would like to learn something of the condition of the roadbed and circumstances before we can go into the details of the fixing of the blame," he said last night. While the spreading of a rail caused the wreck, it is now hinted that the bridge may have caused the wreck by imperfectly locking the draw."

Mrs. McDonald, of Philadelphia, with her husband was a passenger in the second car. When the coach went into the river she had the presence of mind to smash the window beside her and soon rose to the surface. She is an expert swimmer and she at once dived to rescue her husband. Groping under the water she found a man and brought him to the surface but it proved to be a stranger. Again she dived and rescued another man to find her husband was still below. Twice more she dived before she found the right man and brought him to the surface, having saved a third stranger in the meantime.

Henry Deemer, of Philadelphia, is another to whose presence of mind it is believed several survivers owe their lives. He was in the forward car and the crash threw him against the window; breaking the glass. He rose to the surface but at once dived to bring up his wife. Finding her, he dragged her through a broken window. The woman's arm was broken and she cried in agony as Deemer seized her, but despite her cries he clung to her until he had brought her to the surface. Then Deemer went down again. He made his way along the submerged car, breaking every window he could reach to give a chance for others to get out of the death trap. He helped several persons to crawl through the windows of the upper end of the car before it sank completely below the surafce.

Brakeman Wood was in the third car also. Through his action in opening the rear door of the car and standing by at the risk of his own life to save others, undoubtedly was responsible for several of the survivors getting out of the wreck before the waters closed over the coach. Several of the rescued stated that they saw this opening and escaped through the door, being picked up in the water by boatmen.

There is no guard rail along the trestle where the accident happened to prevent cars from going into the water in case of such accidents.

It is also charged now that the interlocking mechanism of the rails of the drawbridge was faulty and that this fact was known to the railroad people, as it had always been defective.

Two cars were raised by wreckers. No bodies were found inside but several which had been imbedded to the mud came to the surface with the car. The police believe this proves their theory that several of the bodies may have floated through the windows and were washed out to sea. General Manager Atterbury of the Pennsylvania Railroad today denied the report of faulty mechaism in the draw, saying it was of the most approved pattern.

Negro Revolutionists.

Havana, Cuba, Oct. 29.—Several hundred negro revolutionists have taken up arms against the provisional government in Santa Clara and Camaguey provinces. The trouble has been caused by the claim of the negroes that their officers received pay from the provisional government for their services in the recent revolution but that the common soldiers were not remembered similarly.

Mahanoy City Pa., Oct. 29.—Throughout the anthracite field not a colliery is working today on account of the observance of Mitchel Day. Many of the towns held parades. Over Eight Hundred Drowned.

Tokio, Oct. 29.—Over 800 Japanese fishermen are reported drowned in a hurricane off Goto Island, and 100 others were injured. Two hundred and sixty-six coral fishing boats were caught in the tempest and only 38 of them lived through the storm. Of the 1,210 men aboard the various boats, 822 are reported dead.

Terrible Torture.

Berlin, Oct. 29.—Tortures which mock the boasted horror of the age were inflicted upon Joseph Duda, a condemned Polish socialist, by the police of Kielce, Russian Poland, according to charges printed today by the local organ of the Polish socialists party. Duda killed a former socialist who turned police spy and was sentenced to be hanged. For forty-eight hours before he was executed Duda, it is claimed, was subjected to horrible tortures by the police. Strips of skin were torn from his arms and legs and red hot irons were applied in a spirit of wanton cruelty. Wadding was inserted in his wounds and then set on fire. Long tacks were also driven under his finger nails and then hot sealing wax was poured into these holes and left to harden. After the police had exhausted every means of torture their ingenuity could devise Duda was executed.

Letter to Jas. B. Hughes & Son.

Alexandria, Virginia.

Dear Sirs: You may like to know what you pay for the paint in a gallon of "paint," assumming the pure-paint part of all "paints" to be all alike; which it isn't; and worth $1.75 a gallon.

Of a paint adulterated 10 per cent, the pure-paint part brings $1 94 a gallon.

15 per cent. brings $2.06 a gallon.
25 " 2.33 "
33⅓ " 2.62 "
50 " 3.50 "
75 " 7.00 "

The average adulteration of paint in this country is about one-third; so, you see, the average price the American people are paying for paint is about $2.62 a gallon.

It is a game of wits. Adulterators are always too shary for the bulk of consumers. People won't pay $1.75 a gallon for paint. So they pay $2.62 a gallon for paint and something that looks like paint mixed with it. (They pay the painter, besides, from $2 to $4 for painting those useless gallons).

Why do they do it? They don't know Devoe.

Yours truly,

The Machinists' Strike.

James O'Connell, president of the International Association of Machinsts, says there are likely to be some developments in the strike of the machinists employed in the shops of the Southern Railway within a day or two. Mr. O'Connell has returned to Washington from New York, where he had a conference with President Samuel Spencer and other high officials of the Southern relative to a settlement of the differences. Mr. O'Connell seemed hopeful that an early agreement will be reached, whereby the union men will return to work.

Conditions in this city are still unchanged. The railway company was engaged yesterday in placing in position supports for the overhead bridge from the machine shops to the round house.

There was no apparent change in conditions at the depot in this city this morning. Fourteen machinists who had arrived here from the Baldwin Locomotive Works, Philadelphia, for the purpose of putting some new locomotives in condition for service, refused to work after having learned of the strike here. The Southern company recently purchased sixty of the larger class of freight engines. Ten which are now in the yard in this city cannot be used until their respected parts are united.

Nine shots were heard in the yards and vicinity between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning. The cause could not be learned.

The report that friction exists between the special officers employed by the company and the police of this city is groundless.

Virginia Horses Won.

Saturday was another Virginia day at Benning's, three out of the six races in the card offered by the United Hunts Association going to Old Dominion horsemen. They also had an interest in a fourth, which was won by a Virginia-bred horse. Courtland Smith again carried off the honors by winning two races, the only ones in which his horses started. Woolgatherer took the great United Hunt Steeple chase for the Hampton stables, and Pete Dailey won the mile and a half flat race, with Mr. Smith up. Billy Garth's Adams won the Manassas steeplechase plate in a drive from Calorahatchee. The Virginian, the winner of the grand military steeplechase, although owned by a New Yorker is a Virginia-bred horse, a Torchlight colt from Fauquier county.

Masonic Visitation.

The Masonic lodges of Petersburg are making great preparations for the entertainment at the Masonic Hall tonight in honor of the visit of Grand Master Kemper, of Virginia, who goes on the one hundred and nineteenth anniversary of the granting of a charter to Petersburg [redacted] making the occasion a special [redacted] Grand Master Kemper, from Alexandria, will be the guest of Petersburg Lodge, but all the Masonic fraternity of that city will participate in the entertainment. The other organizations are Blandford Lodge, No. 3, and Powhatan Starke Lodge, No. 124. A dinner, with about one hundred present, will be given, and speeches will be made by the grand master and several prominent Masons of that city.

Fall Schedule.

The new fall schedule of the steamers of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia Railway Company between Washington, Alexandria the landings on the river and Baltimore will go into effect next Wednesday and will be continued, it is understood, until winter. According to the new schedule one steamer is withdrawn from service and, instead of five round trips, only three will be made weekly, the steamers departing from this city every Sunday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings and coming from Baltimore this way every Saturday, Tuesday and Thursday evening. It is understood that the steamers Northumberland and Anne Arundel will be kept on the route, and that the Calvert will be laid up.

Raid on Gamblers.

Chief Goods and Officers Jones, Knight, Nicholson and Young made a descent upon a party of negroes who were gambling in a saloon in the extreme northern portion of the city last Saturday night and captured six of the offenders. Five of the party, who left $5 each for their appearance in the Police Court this morning, could not be found when the case was called and forfeited their collateral. The other man was placed in the dock and fined $5. The police are endeavoring to break up gambling in certain places where white and colored men and boys are believed to engage in such diversion. The proprietors of the resorts are also liable to fines.

The Smith Murderer.

Commonwealth's Attorney S. G. Brent, Judge Barley, Mayor Paff, Police Justice Caton, Chief Goods, Lieut. Smith and others held a conference yesterday at the office of the former at which plans for the capture of the murderer of Chas. T. Smith were discussed. As stated in Thursday's Gazette, Frank Robinson, colored, who was with William Johnson, the murderer, just before the shooting, was said to have been seen at his mother's home near Quantico. Robinson, it is believed, will soon be arrested and through his arrest the authorities hope to locate Johnson.

Jr. O. U. A. M.

The members of Belle Haven and Alexandria Councils, Junior Order United American Mechanics, assembled in their hall, on south Fairfax street, last night and marched in a body to Grace Episcopal Church, where they heard a special sermon by Rev. Edgar Carpenter, the rector.

Fined Seventy-five Dollars.

Among the cases before the Police Court this morning was that of a city druggist who had been cited to appear to show cause why he should not be fined for selling a certain catarrh cure containing a percentage of cocaine. The accused was represented by Mr. G. L. Boothe, and Mr. S. P. Fisher, Corporation Attorney, appeared on behalf of the city. The evidence was to the effect that certain colored persons had recently purchased the preparation from the defendant. The latter in his defense averred that after becoming acquainted with the evidence before the Corporation Court in the recent murder case he had ceased to sell this particular catarrh cure, that he had given instructions to his clerk not to dispose of any more of the powder and had sent the packages he had on hand back to the wholesale druggist. A package of the preparation, however, had been sold to a negro after the trial in the court. The druggist said he had not up to that time examined the formula of the alleged catarrh cure, and had ceased to sell the preparation as soon as he learned its nature. He further said that many medicines for catarrh and throat diseases contained certain percentages of cocaine, and were doubtless sold by all city druggists. He denied that he had any intention of violating the laws of the city or State.

Mr. Boothe contended that his client had committed no offense; that it had not been shown that he had sold straight cocaine and that he had merely disposed of a preparation containing a few grains of the narcotic, which also entered into other proprietary medicines.

Mr. Fisher called attention to the class of customers who purchased this particular catarrh cure, who, he thought, should have excited suspicion.

Justice Caton in his summary of the case said the law prohibited the unlawful sale of cocaine or preparations of the same. He stated that he had some time ago imposed a fine of $75 upon a city druggist for selling the narcotic, and felt it to be his duty to impose a like amount in this case.

An appeal from the decision was noted.

Memorial Meeting.

In the present of 400 members of the local organization of United Daughters of the Confederacy, together with specially invited guests from this city and others making up an audience of more than 600 persons, a notable service was held yesterday afternoon in Washington city in memory of Mrs Jefferson Davis. The programme included addresses by two of the surviving members of the Confederate Congress—Hon. John Goode, of Virginia, and Hon. John V. Wright, of Tennessee, and by John T. Callaghan, president of Confederate Veterans' Camp No. 171, District of Columbia. A program of vocal music was given and resolutions of sorrow were adopted by a rising vote. The exercises were under the auspices of the District of Columbia Divison of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, and were held in Confederate Vereraus' Hall, in the Maryland Building, 1410 H street northwest. All the Confederate veterans camps of the city and surrounding vicinity were represented by their commanders, included Commander W. H. May of Lee Camp of this city. A number of veterans of Alexandria wore their uniforms of gray.

Wright's Trial.

As heretofore stated, the trial of Joseph Thomas, alias John Wright, colored, indicted for murder, assault, etc., will come up in the Circuit Court for the County on Wednesday. Mr. J. E. Clements, who has been designated by Judge Nicol to defend the prisoner, was in this city yesterday securing evidence for his side of the case. He says he will make the best defense in his power. The first indictment will be that of assault upon Miss Risley near Luna Park.

It is understood that the authorities have some clue that may lead to the arrest of Johnson, the murderer, and that one of the city police officers has been sent to a northern city to identify the man as soon as he is arrested and to bring him back to Alexandria. The authorities are properly very reticent concerning the matter.

"Joshua Simpkins" Tonight.

The sensational rural comedy drama, "Joshua Simpkins," will be produced at the Opera House tonight. The play contains an interesting and intelligible plot, but it is not allowed to interfer with the fun, which is said to be in abundance. During the run of the play some startling scenes and situations are seen, the principal of which is said to be the sawmill, in the third act, shown in complete operation, cutting up real timber. The saw used is genuine, the same as is usually seen in large country sawmills. An excellent band and fine orchestra accompany this attraction. The band paraded at noon all being dressed as farmers, when some good music was rendered.

The "Joshua Simpkins" country band gave a concert at the corner of King and Royal streets today and will give a concert in front of the Opera House at 7 o'clock tonight. The band is composed of talented musicians and the music was very fine.

Testimonial.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Fire Wardens it was ordered that the following be sent to Mr. W. J. Belt, Chief Engineer of the Washington Fire Department:

Alexandria, Va., October 18, 1906

Mr. W. F. Belt, Chief Engineer, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir: We, the Wardens of the Alexandria Fire Department, desire to thank you and your assistant, Mr. Robinson, for your valuable services in gratuitously giving us the benefit of your wide experience, in the purchase of a steam fire engine.

We, in the name of citizens of Alexandria, Va., congratulate you and your associate, Mr. Robinson, upon your strong specification and the thorough test our new apparatus received at your hands.

We are sure Alexandria has a fire engine equal to any in the country of its class.

It would have been impossible for us to have known this positively without your assistance or from some man of similar experience: and for all this you and your able assistant do not make a charge of a single cent.

While we know this work has been a great amount of trouble and annoyance to you we are sure you have done it willingly on account of your great interest in fire departments generally, and especially the Alexandria Fire Department.

We assure you the good people of our grand old city appreciate your high motives and kindly feeling towards us. Wishing you and your department every success, we have the honor to be,

Yours very truly,

H. A. DOWNHAM, Secretary.

JEWELRY.

Going Housekeeping?

If so, you can hardly get along without spoons, knives and forks. The silver-plated are without a doubt the most economical in the end. They wear longer, look better and cost very little more than the ordinary kinds. We can even supply silver-plated knives with steel blades.

Your sideboard is hardly complete without a silver set. Silver cake and fruit baskets should also be placed there.

A candelabra with will brighten the table considerably. After the spread has been cleared off a silver fern dish should be placed on the table.

The necessary things in cut-glass are the decanter, the berry bowl and the celery dish. In a great many homes the ice cream is served on cut glass plates.

On your dresser place a traveling alarm clock and a sterling silver or silver-plated toilet set, also a hat and clothes brush.

You will find plenty use of a number of small silver-plated trays. One has always so many trinkets to take care of.

There should be a jewel case on the dresser, if only for appearance sake. Over night it is a good place to keep the watch and Z—K Gold Chain.

A Bridge Kept In Repair by Mussels.

The byssus, or silky beard, by which the mussel moors itself to the stone, is a familiar object of our sea rocks. It is in its nature like the silk of the silkworm and exudes in a glutinous thread from an organ at the base of the foot. The following is an instance in which the mooring of the mussel was useful to effect a purpose which human skill could not accomplish: A large bridge, with twenty arches, in the town of Biddeford, in Devonshire, crosses the Torridge river near the spot of its junction with the Taw. The tide flows so very rapidly here that it was found impossible to keep the bridge in repair by means of mortar. The corporation therefore keeps boats employed in bringing mussels to it, and the interstices of the bridges are filled by hand with these mussels. It is supported from being driven away by the tide entirely by the strong threads which these mussels fix to the stonework, and by an act or grant it is a crime liable to transportation for any person to remove the mussels unless in the presence and by the consent of the corporative trustees.—Scottish Nights.

The Ruling Passion.

No self respecting actor will admit that his show is not drawing full houses every night. One of the profession who plays juvenile parts recently met a leading man on the Rialto. The leading man was dressed in deep black. There was a wide band of crape on his hat, and he had discarded the patent leather shoes an actor loves for others of a subdued polish that spoke of grief.

"What's the matter?" asked the juvenile.

"My father is dead," answered the leading man in a heartbroken voice.

The juvenile expressed his sympathy.

"When did he die?" he asked.

"Last week. We buried him today—a nice funeral," answered the heartbroken one.

"Large attendance?" asked the juvenile.

A smile of enthusiastic delight flashed over the mourner's face. "Large attendance!" he cried. "My boy, we turned 'em away."—New York News.

"Hail Columbia's" First Rendition.

"Hail Columbia" was written in 1798 by Joseph Hopkinson when congress, in session at Philadelphia, was debating what attitude to assume in the struggle between France and England. Party feeling ran high, and the air was surcharged with patriotic enthusiasm. A young actor in the city who was about to have a benefit came to Hopkinson in despair and said that twenty boxes remained unsold, and it looked as if the proposed benefit would prove a failure. If Hopkinson would write him a patriotic song adapted to the tune of "The President's March," then popular, it would save the day. The following afternoon the song was ready. It was duly advertised, the house was packed, and in wild enthusiasm the song was encored and re-encored.

One Side of the Mouth.

Did you ever meet a stranger who talked from one side of his mouth, usually in an undertone and with his eyes wandering while talking? The man's manner is not an indication that he is weighing his words or has something important to tell. It is almost a sure sign that he has spent years in jail. This manner of talking is acquired in prison, where conversation among prisoners is prohibited and where the men have to talk out of one side of their mouths in order to prevent the keeper from noticing that conversation is going on. The habit sticks to the convicts for years after they get out.—New York Press.

One at a Time.

Women do not mass as well as men do. They lose by aggregation. A street car full of women makes walking seem attractive. A regiment of men is pleasing. A regiment of women would be disturbing. So there are some flowers that, although individually charming, do not bunch well. Taken in large groups, women are objectionable. It is as individuals or in small squads that they are so incomparably interesting.—Life.

Two Points of View.

On one occasion, at a party given by Sir John Millais, Lady Halle rose to play the violin, when to her intense amusement she heard Landseer exclaim: "Good gracious! A woman playing the fiddle!" On the other hand, an old fashioned nobleman when he saw a gentleman sit down to the piano contemptuously remarked, "I wonder if the creature can sew."

Human Blood Marks.

A tale of horror was told by marks of human blood in the home of J. W. Williams, a well known merchant of Bac, Ky., He writes: "Twenty years ago I had severe hemorrhages of the lungs, and was near death when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. It completely cured me and I have remained well ever since." It cures Hemmorhages, Chronic Coughs, Settled Colds and Bronchitis, and is the only known cure for Weak Lungs. Every bottle guaranteed by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, Druggists 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

The Innkeeper of England.

England's unpopularity with the Englishman—and the American—is largely due to the country innkeeper. "If any class of public servant ought to be made to pass an examination it is certainly the licensed victualer," writes V. V. V. in the London Sphere, for at present any man may obtain a license without any knowledge of cooking, housekeeping, sanitation—any knowledge of anything but of the due pulling of a beer handle. Moreover, his wife may be the most incompetent of housewives, even for her own family. On the continent innkeeping is an art to be studied. In England it is too often the refuge of the man who wants an easy chair to sit in.

An Hour Before Dawn.

A curious mystery is the temporary uneasiness of animals about an hour before dawn, no matter at what hour this occurs. Children turn and moan, elderly people awaken and turn over for another sleep, cocks crow, dogs become uneasy and horses and cattle move about for a short period, when stillness returns for a time. What is the cause? Are the animals affected by some magnetic wave which precedes sunlight an hour or so, or is the habit one of heredity passed down through numberless generations from an original wild state, when an alertness just before daylight was necessary for protection from enemies?

England the Land of Flowers.

I know not why Italy rather than England should be called the land of flowers. The truth is that the English people are an art loving one and that in England more than in any region of Italy or country of Europe flowers are in evidence everywhere and, with the grasses and plants and universal vegetation, are more intimately and perennially intertwined with human existence itself.—Naples Il Mattino.

His Personal Appearance.

Mamma—I'm afraid that young Wilder will not make you a good husband, Clara. Clara—Why not, mamma? Mamma—Because it seems to me that he rather neglects his personal appearance. Clara—Yes, that's true, mamma, and I'm glad you mentioned it. I'll see that he makes his personal appearance here every evening after this instead of only twice a week.

Innocence.

"Maw, what is a reprobate?"
"Ask your father, Johnny."
Now, why should a man become incensed over a harmless little episode like this?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Amiability.

Bogg—Did he hurt himself when he fell downstairs? Fogg—I think not. He died without making a sound.—Harper's Weekly.

Drop by drop the offensive discharge caused by Nasal Catarrh falls from the back of the nose into the throat, setting up an inflammation that is likely to mean Chronic Bronchitis. The certain, rational cure for Catarrh is Ely's Cream Balm, and the relief that follows even the first application cannot be told in words. Don't suffer a day longer from the discomfort of Nasal Catarrh. Cream Balm is sold by all druggists for 50 cents, or mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren street, New York.

WHO SHE WAS

SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF LYDIA E. PINKHAM

And a True Story of How the Vegetable Compound Had Its Birth and How the "Panic of '73" Caused it to be Offered for Public Sale in Drug Stores.

This remarkable woman, whose maiden name was Estes, was born in Lynn, Mass., February 9th, 1819, coming from a good old Quaker family. For some years she taught school, and became known as a woman of an alert and investigating mind, an earnest seeker after knowledge, and above all, possessed of a wonderfully sympathetic nature.

In 1843 she married Isaac Pinkham, a builder and real estate operator, and their early married life was marked by prosperity and happiness. They had four children, three sons and a daughter.

In those good old fashioned days it was common for mothers to make their own home medicines from roots and herbs, nature's own remedies—calling in a physician only in specially urgent cases. By tradition and experience many of them gained a wonderful knowledge of the curative properties of the various roots and herbs.

Mrs. Pinkham took a great interest in the study of roots and herbs, their characteristics and power over disease. She maintained that just as nature so bountifully provides in the harvest-fields and orchards vegetable foods of all kinds; so, if we but take the pains to find them, in the roots and herbs of the field there are remedies expressly designed to cure the various ills and weaknesses of the body, and it was her pleasure to search these out, and prepare simple and effective medicines for her own family and friends.

Chief of these was a rare combination of the choicest medicinal roots and herbs found best adapted for the cure of the ills and weaknesses peculiar to the female sex, and Lydia E. Pinkham's friends and neighbors learned that her compound relieved and cured and it became quite popular among them.

All this so far was done freely, without money and without price, as a labor of love.

But in 1873 the financial crisis struck Lynn. Its length and severity were too much for the large real estate interests of the Pinkham family, as this class of business suffered most from fearful depression, so when the Centennial year dawned it found their property swept away. Some other source of income had to be found.

At this point Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made known to the world.

The three sons and the daughter, with their mother, combined forces to restore the family fortune. They argued that the medicine which was so good for their woman friends and neighbors was equally good for the women of the whole world.

The Pinkhams had no money, and little credit. Their first laboratory was the kitchen, where roots and herbs were steeped on the stove, gradually filling a gross of bottles. Then came the question of selling it, for always before they had given it away freely. They hired a job printer to run off some pamphlets setting forth the merits of the medicine, now called Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and these were distributed by the Pinkham sons in Boston, New York, and Brooklyn.

The wonderful curative properties of the medicine were, to a great extent, self-advertising, for whoever used it recommended it to others, and the demand gradually increased.

In 1877, by combined efforts the family had saved enough money to commence newspaper advertising and from that time the growth and success of the enterprise were assured, until today Lydia E. Pinkham and her Vegetable Compound have become household words everywhere, and many tons of roots and herbs are used annually in its manufacture.

Lydia E. Pinkham herself did not live to see the great success of this work. She passed to her reward years ago, but not till she had provided means for continuing her work as effectively as she could have done it herself.

During her long and eventful experience she was ever methodical in her work and she was always careful to preserve a record of every case that came to her attention. The case of every sick woman who applied to her for advice—and there were thousands—received careful study, and the details, including symptoms, treatment and results were recorded for future reference, and to-day these records, together with hundreds of thousands made since, are available to sick women the world over, and represent a vast collaboration of information regarding the treatment of woman's ills, which for authenticity and accuracy can hardly be equaled in any library in the world.

With Lydia E. Pinkham worked her daughter-in-law, the present Mrs. Pinkham. She was carefully instructed in all her hard-won knowledge, and for years she assisted her in her vast correspondence.

To her hands naturally fell the direction of the work when its originator passed away. For nearly twenty-five years she has continued it, and nothing in the work shows when the first Lydia E. Pinkham dropped her pen, and the present Mrs. Pinkham, now the mother of a large family, took it up. With women assistants, some as capable as herself, the present Mrs. Pinkham continues this great work, and probably from the office of no other person have so many women been advised how to regain health. Sick woman, this advice is "Yours for Health" freely given if you only write to ask for it.

Such is the history of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; made from simple roots and herbs; the one great medicine for women's ailments, and the fitting monument to the noble woman whose name it bears.
